OKLAHOMA CITY THUNDER NOTES

Looking for Some Magic: After opening the season with back-to-back wins (SAC, DET) for the first time since 2003, Oklahoma City is looking to re-enter the win column tonight vs. the Magic after suffering three consecutive losses (POR, LAL, HOU). In the Thunder wins this season, OKC has committed an average of 12.5 turnovers while holding their opponent to 86.0 points per game on 38.9% field goal shooting. Conversely, in the three Thunder losses this season, the Thunder has committed an average of 18.3 turnovers while allowing their opponent to average 96.3 points per game on 49.1% shooting. The Thunder, currently in search of their third overall victory did not win three games last season until December 19th (vs. TOR).

First Impressions: With their 102-89 victory over the Sacramento Kings last Wednesday night, the OKC franchise secured their first opening night victory since 2003 when they defeated the Los Angeles Clippers 109-100 in Saitama, Japan. During the Thunder's wire-to-wire win at the Ford Center, Russell Westbrook set a career-high with 13 assists to go along with 14 points and seven rebounds. With his 13 assists, Westbrook single-handily matched the entire assist total for the entire Kings team. The last time an OKC franchise player matched the entire opposing team's assist total occurred in 2006 when Luke Ridnour handed-out 13 assists in a 110-106 defeat vs. the Portland Trail Blazers.

Youth Movement: The Thunder enter the 2009-10 season as the second youngest team in the NBA with an average age of 25 years and 130 days. They trail only the Memphis Grizzlies who boast an average age of 25 years and 92 days. Additionally, the OKC opening night (10/28) starting lineup (Durant, Green, Krstic, Sefolosa and Westbrook) was the youngest in the league with an average age of 23 years and 179 days. For a matter of comparison, the age of the average NBA roster is 26 years and 329 days and the oldest team in the league entering the 2009-10 season was the San Antonio Spurs with an average age of 29 years and 73 days. There are currently eight players on the Thunder roster age 23 or younger.

What Lazy Days of Summer?: The Thunder was the only NBA team to participate in multiple summer leagues this past off-season. Seven players currently on the Thunder roster saw action in the Orlando Pro Summer League (July 5-10) and the NBA Summer League in Las Vegas (July 10-19). Thunder second-year guard Russell Westbrook and OKC Rookie James Harden were both named to the 2009 Orlando Pro All-Summer League First-Team. In addition, Thunder forward D.J. White received second-team honors for his performance in Orlando. In four Orlando Summer League contests Westbrook posted averages of 22.3 points (.519 FG%), 3.5 rebounds and 7.8 assists in 32.3 minutes per game. Harden, the No. 3 overall selection in this past summer's NBA draft participated in a total of nine summer league contests and recorded averages of 14.7 points (.506 FG%), 3.3 rebounds and 2.4 assists in 27.9 minutes per game.

Country First: The OKC trio of Kevin Durant, Jeff Green and Russell Westbrook were all invited to participate in the 2009 USA Basketball Men's National Team mini-camp held in Las Vegas this past July. In preparation for the 2010 World Championships and the 2012 Olympic Games in London, USA basketball hosted the three-day event which included an intra-squad Blue vs. White scrimmage on the final day. Thunder Head Athletic Trainer, Joe Sharpe was also invited to participate in the Team USA event.

Summer Oversees: Both Nenad Krstic (Serbia) and Thabo Sefolosa (Switzerland) spent the summer months representing their counties as they competed in the 2009 EuroBasket Championships held in Poland. While Sefolosa and Switzerland participated in the Division B bracket, Krstic helped lead the Serbia team to the Championship Game vs. Spain in the upper Division A bracket. In nine EuroBasket contests, Krstic posted averages of 13.4 points, 4.8 rebounds and 1.6 assists in 23.4 minutes per game. Meanwhile, Sefolosa played in four games for the Swiss team and compiled averages of 15.8 points, 6.5 rebounds and 3.3 assists in 37.3 minutes per contest.

Technically Speaking: With no individual technical fouls called through the first five games of the 2009-10 season, the Thunder continue their run of being one of the fewest "T'd-Up" teams in the league. During the 2008-09 season, 11 individual technicals (excludes defensive technicals) were whistled on Thunder players and coaches. This total was the fewest awarded to any NBA team during the season. In addition, the Thunder committed 31 total technical fouls (includes individual and defensive 3-second technicals) which tied for the fewest in the NBA (San Antonio). This total also represents the fewest "T's" committed in the NBA since the 1997-98 season (Golden State; 22).

Filling up the Ford: The Thunder began the 2009-10 season right where they left off... with another sellout. Those that made up the capacity crowd of 18,203 on opening night (10/28) in Oklahoma City were greeted with a new and improved Ford Center. As part of a taxpayer funded initiative passed in March 2008, numerous arena improvements were recently completed. The Ford Center now boasts a state-of-the art scoreboard, new terrace suites and a courtside club to go along with a new and improved Thunder locker room. Last season, fans from near and far flocked to Oklahoma City to witness Thunder basketball. During the Thunder's inaugural season in OKC, the Ford Center recorded 18 sellouts (19,136) including eight consecutive to end the season. In 41 home games, the Thunder's average attendance topped the 18,700 mark (11th best in the NBA), accounting for an average capacity of nearly 98.0%. This season, the Thunder has sold-out two of their first three home contests.

Brooks at the Helm: On Wednesday April 15th, just prior to OKC's final game of the 2008-09 season versus the Los Angeles Clippers, Thunder General Manager, Sam Presti made the announcement that the organization had decided to retain Head Coach, Scott Brooks, thereby waiving the once interim status attached to his title.

Coach Brooks took the Thunder helm on November 22nd of last year after a disappointing 1-12 start to the season under then head coach, P.J. Carlesimo. After taking the reigns from Carlesimo, the Thunder showed marked improvement in a number of statistical categories including, field-goal percentage (5.1%), assists (4.2) and points per game (9.6).

Last season under Brooks, the Thunder posted a 22-47 (.319%) record, including a 15-17 (.469%) stretch from late December through early March.

Durant Dazzles: Through his first two NBA seasons, Kevin Durant has already proven that he is one of the elite scorers in the game. Durant, the NBA's 6th leading scorer last season, averaged 25.3 points in just his second season removed from the University of Texas. He became the NBA's 5th second-year player in the last 20 years to average better than 25 points per game.

NBA's Top Second-Year Scorers (Last 20 Years)
Kevin Durant (OKC)	2008-09	25.3
LeBron James (CLE)	2004-05	27.2
Vince Carter (TOR)	1999-00	25.7
Shaquille O'Neal (ORL)	1993-94	29.3
David Robinson (SA)	1990-91	25.6

Sophomore Studs: At the end of last season, second year players Kevin Durant and Jeff Green combined to average 41.8 points per game. The last pair of second year teammates to average a higher total was Allen Iverson and Jerry Stackhouse for the Philadelphia 76ers who more than a decade ago combined to average 44.2 points per game during the 1996-97 season.

Not "Two" Shabby: After two seasons in the NBA, Kevin Durant boasts a 22.7 scoring average, the fifth highest career average for any second year player in the modern era (dating back to 1989). Only Shaquille O'Neal (26.4), David Robinson (25.0), LeBron James (24.1) and Vince Carter (22.9) posted higher career scoring averages after their first two NBA seasons.

Young Guns: During the 2008-09 season, the Thunder registered a majority of their scoring from either first or second year players. In fact, OKC rookies and second year players combined to score 4,780 of the 7,952 total Thunder points. This total represents 60.1% of the OKC points scored, the highest percent of any team in the NBA during the 2008-09 season. The last team with a higher percentage of points coming from rookies and second year players occurred during the 1997-98 season when the Boston Celtics received 68.7% of their scoring from a young team which included the likes of Antoine Walker, Ron Mercer, and Walter McCarty.

Rookie & Second Year Scoring (as % of team total)
Oklahoma City	60.1%
Memphis Grizzlies	50.3%
Los Angeles Clippers	39.9%
Miami Heat	38.9%
Houston Rockets	32.0%

Race to 3,000... and Beyond: During the Thunder game in Phoenix on February 20th, Kevin Durant etched his name into the NBA record books by becoming the second youngest player (behind only LeBron James) to record 3,000 points in league history. With his 35 points versus the Suns, Durant reached the 3,000-point plateau in only 134 games. Durant will look to surpass the 5,000 point mark during the 2009-10 NBA as he currently sits with 3,616 career points scored.

New Year's Resolution: Last season, the Thunder held true to one of their New Year's resolutions... free-throw shooting. In the 33 games played during calendar year 2008 the Thunder ranked 26th in the NBA from the free-throw line, shooting 74.5%. In 2009 however, the Thunder displayed material improvement from the charity stripe. In the 49 games played during 2009, the Thunder shot 81.1% from the line, representing a 6.6% improvement. In games played after January 1st the Thunder ranked 5th in the NBA in free-throw shooting percentage.

Russell Rules: During his rookie season, Russell Westbrook burst onto the NBA landscape and immediately made his presence known. Westbrook, the T-Mobile Rookie of the month in both December and February was one of just three rookies (O.J. Mayo, Marc Gasol) to rank in the top-10 in points, rebounds and assists. Westbrook went onto recorded 10 double-doubles last season, which was tops among the rookie class. His accomplishments were recognized by the league after the season when Westbrook joined Derrick Rose, O.J. Mayo, Brook Lopez and Michael Beasley in being named to the NBA's All-Rookie First-Team.

More Westbrook: Last season, Russell was one of just 15 players and the lone rookie to average at least 15 points, four rebounds and four assists. On March 2nd versus Dallas, he became the first rookie to record a triple double since Chris Paul accomplished the feat during the 2005-06 season. Lastly, by converting 20 made free-throws February 1st at Sacramento, Westbrook became just the 3rd rookie in NBA history to score 20 FT's in a single game.

Stripe Happy: On January 23rd versus the Los Angeles Clippers, Kevin Durant received plenty of charity from the free throw stripe. On the night, Durant calmly converted 24 made free throws (on 26 attempts) en route to a 46-point performance at STAPLES Center. Durant's 24 made free throws set a Thunder franchise record. In addition, Durant set an NBA season-high for most FT's made in a game this year. KD becomes one of only four players over the last 20 years to make 24+ FT's in a single game (MR; LeBron James: 24-of-28 on 3/12/06).

Lots of Big Nights: During his second NBA season, Kevin Durant filled-up the scoring column with regularity. At the end of the 2008-09 NBA season, Durant recorded 20 or more points 57 times including 30 or more points on 21 occasions. These totals place KD among some elite NBA company.

Most 20+ Point Games: 2 nd Yr. Player (last 15 years)
68	LeBron James (CLE)	2004-05
63	Vince Carter (TOR)	1999-00
57	Kevin Durant (OKC)	2008-09
57	Jamal Mashburn (DAL)	1994-95
56	Dwyane Wade (MIA)	2004-05

Most 30+ Point Games: 2 nd Yr. Player (last 20 years)
35	Shaquille O'Neal (ORL)	1993-94
27	LeBron James (CLE)	2004-05

21	Kevin Durant (OKC)	2008-09

KD En Fuego: Last year, prior to his injury 2/27 at Dallas, Kevin Durant found himself on a red-hot scoring tear seldom witnessed by a second year NBA player. In the 17 games prior to his injury (1/16 vs. DET through 2/24 vs. LAL), Durant posted a scoring average of 32.3 points per game. During this five-week long span, Durant led the NBA in scoring by a 2.4 point per game margin (LeBron James; 29.9 ppg). To highlight the rarity of such a blistering stretch, it has been 35 years since a second year player last averaged 32+ points across a 17-game span (Bob McAdoo; 34.7 ppg during the 1974 season).

Worth Noting: In Kevin Durant's rookie season, he became the youngest player to record 18 made field goals in a single game. During the 2008-09 season, Durant set a career-high with 47 points on February 17th vs. New Orleans. Durant is the youngest player to score 47+ points since LeBron James recorded 56 points during the 2004-05 season.
